DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,754,235, Van Der Putten et al (Van'235) in view of prior U.S. patent Van Der Putten et al, US 6,327,273 (Van'273).

Claims 1-10 of the instant application have the same scope of respective claims 1-10 of Van'235, the only difference is that claims 1-10 of Van'235 do not specify a transmission medium between the transmitter and receiver, the transmission being optical.

However, Van'273 specify an optical transmission medium between the transmitter and the receiver, see claim 6.

It would have being obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to use the transmission medium of Van'273 between the transmitter and receiver of Van'235 so that high bit data rates can be provided between the transmitter and receiver. The advantage would be the ability to implement the very high bit data transmission and reception that the respective transmitter and receiver of Van'235 provide.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the term "data" in the phrase "the transmitter includes a connection to an optical communication medium so that the data is received from or output to an optical communication medium" is confusing because it is already recited that "a first input for receiving data", in accordance with the specification, it is understood that the data received from the first input is not the same data received from the optical communication medium (see figure). Stated differently, the "data" received from the optical communication medium lacks antecedent basis.

Regarding claim 6, the term "data" in the phrase "the receiver includes a connection to an optical communication medium so that the data is received from or output to an optical communication medium" is confusing for similar reasons as indicated above with reference to claim 1.

Claims 4-5 and 7-10 depend from respective claims 1 and 6, thus they are subject to the same rejections.

Appropriate correction is required.

4. Claims 1-10 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

As to claim 1, the specification as originally filed doesn't describe the feature of a transmitter including a connection to an optical communication medium for both receiving and outputting data to the optical communication medium.

As to claim 6, the specification as originally filed doesn't describe the feature of a receiver including a connection to an optical communication medium for both receiving and outputting data to the optical communication medium.

In the specification as originally filed the transmitter is described as only outputting data to a transmission medium (which can be optical) (shown in the figure as TL), and a receiver that only receive data from the transmission medium and not both transmission and reception. See specification, paragraph [0037].

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
